

GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTOR AGREEMENTS

The Academy seeks support from outside organizations to cover the costs of the conferences and workshops it produces. In appreciation of this support the Academy acknowledges the contributions as follows:

1. Organizations providing funding are listed in the conference program and the resulting volume of the Annals of the New York Academy of Sciences under the following headings:

Under $5,000
$5,000-14,999
$15,000+

Contributor
Supporter
Major Funding Provided By

2. Each contributor receives one free copy of the volume of the Annals that results from the conference no matter what the amount of the contribution. Any organization that contributes $5,000 or more to a single conference receives an additional five free copies of the resulting volume of the Annals.
3. Contributors may purchase up to 50 copies of the volume at the pre-publication rate of $35.00 each and additional copies at a 50% discount off the full publication price. An order form for these volumes will be sent to the contributor when the contribution is acknowledged. The order for volumes at the pre-publication price must be received by the last day of the conference; other volumes may be ordered at any time. The 50% discount will be available when the organization identifies itself as a conference supporter.
4. Each contribution of $500 or more will receive one complimentary registration. In addition, organizations that contribute more than $5,000 receive one additional complimentary registration for each additional $5,000 they contribute.
5. Organizations that contribute services in kind or support functions during the conference will receive the same recognition, (complimentary registrations and volumes of the Annals) as other contributors based on the approximate value of their contribution as determined by the Academy.
6. Organizations may want to schedule news conferences or other activities related to their support of the conference. The Communications Office of the Academy will assist in any way possible in making these arrangements.
7. Acknowledgements of contributions will be specified in a letter sent to contributors after receipt of the funds. The letter will contain an order form for the publication, and a request for the name of the guest registrant(s).
8. Government agencies, universities and non-profit associations will be acknowledged as co-sponsors of a conference if they contribute $30,000 or more to a single program. Co-sponsors may participate in the program design process with the conference proponents, but co-sponsored programs are subject to the same review process as all other conferences. To avoid even the appearance of impropriety, private companies with a business interest in the topic of the conference cannot be accepted by the Academy as a co-sponsor but may support the conference like other organizations and receive the same acknowledgement as outlined above.
